FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

PREACH THE GOSPEL TO ALL CREATION

The first reading and the Gospel provide the central theme of today's feast. Ascension is not to be understood as a departure, a farewell, but as a new presence of the Master who manifests himself through signs.

The second reading completes this message by reminding us that the Christian vision of the world is not confined within the borders of this physical life.

As the Lord sends us forth into the whole world to preach the Gospel to all creation, let us pray with St. Paul and ask God to grant wisdom to all Christians: not human wisdom, but the understanding of the mystery of the Church. Let us ask God to open our eyes and hearts so that we can fathom the greatness of the hope we are called to.

Today is also a special day for our beloved mothers. We thank all our women for their love for us, and their contribution to the work of evangelization in the Church. We pray for God's abundant blessings on all their endeavors.

Blessings!

The Ascension of the Lord
